SEASON 2018 LAUNCH

A preview of Playing the Palace set the scene for a wonderful launch of the new season

PLAYING THE PALACE

A fun-filled musical for the whole family to enjoy

This November, audiences will be tapping their feet and singing along at the Playhouse Theatre as the Hobart Repertory Theatre Society presents the musical Playing the Palace.

Everybody wanted to play the Palace. It represented glamour and excitement and was home to the greatest talent of its day. However, lean times have forced its closure and it is now due to be demolished in the name of progress.

Enter Rosie O'Grady, a bright young actress determined to save the Palace by putting on a show to celebrate its glorious history.

Featuring well-known songs such as Give My Regards to Broadway, Shine on Harvest Moon, Goodbye My Lady Love, and Oh You Beautiful Doll, Playing the Palace is set to delight audiences of all ages.

Written by June Walker Rogers, this production is directed by Mark Morgan, with musical direction by Melfred Lijauco and choreography by Sera Goldstone.

"We are very excited to be bringing this show to the Playhouse and taking older audiences on a trip down memory lane, whilst introducing younger audiences to some classic old standards," Mark says.

Starring Grace Burdick as Rosie O'Grady, alongside Joe Fitzpatrick as John Allen, Playing the Palace features a large and vibrant ensemble consisting of many newcomers to musical theatre interspersed with some seasoned veterans.

Director Mark Morgan promises a great show
